BMS Institute of Technology and Management has set up a musical instruments facility for the benefit of students and staff.

Many studies have shown a correlation between musical training and academic success. This is how students benefit from using musical instruments in class:

- Learning to play a musical instrument has so many benefits, whether it's building your confidence, enhancing your memory or widening your social circle.
- Joining a musical group at any age encourages you to develop relationships with new kinds of people. It also builds skills in leadership and team-building, as well as showing you the rewards of working with others.
- Playing an instrument relieves stress. It has a unique effect on our emotions, and has even been proven to lower heart rate and blood pressure.
- Playing an instrument helps you get comfortable with self-expression. It builds your confidence and improves patience.
- Playing music makes you more creative. It is up to the player to put their own stamp on a piece, to inject some of their personality into the music.

Keeping these points in view, a facility with the a set of musical instruments has been set up in the Campus where you can experience the musical bliss. Visit the Music Studio @ BMSIT&M.

It has the following musical instruments for you to explore.
