

The BMESI Student Chapter at BMSIT&M is a vibrant and growing community of enthusiastic students who share a deep interest in the intersection of engineering and medicine. Officially inaugurated on 12th May 2025, the chapter currently comprises a dedicated team of 5 Faculty and 38 student members from the Department of Electronics and Communication Engineering.

Our mission is to facilitate networking opportunities with industry professionals, researchers, and academic experts, helping members explore career paths and build valuable connections in the biomedical sciences. Also encourage student participation in hands-on projects, technical workshops, and collaborative discussions.

Through our initiatives, the chapter strives to raise awareness about the vast and impactful applications of engineering in medicine, encouraging innovation and interdisciplinary collaboration for the advancement of healthcare solutions and technologies.
