Activity Name: Visit to Visvesvaraya Industrial and Technological Museum

Number of Students attended: 51

Time: 9:30 AM – 4:30 PM

Venue: Visvesvaraya Industrial and Technological Museum

Highlights of the activity:

- A one day visit to Visvesvaraya Industrial and Technological Museum was organized on 21.08.2018. This visit was attended by 51 students of 1st sem EEE branch and 3 faculty members Mr.Ozwin D'Souza, Mr. Babu Naik and Mrs. Shipa. This was organized as part of induction program for 1st year students.
- Students were very enthusiastic about the moto "see and learn" which they later aptly turned into "seeing is believing".
- We started our visit by exploring the transmission and engine division. Students were made to know about the fact that, some of the theoretical concepts which they are about learn in elements of mechanical engineering course, can be well understood with the help of working models showcased in museum.
- The next interesting division was electrical wing. Many students have had fun in learning electrical engineering concepts via activity. The charging and discharging phenomenon of a capacitor was well appreciated by student community.
- They also got to know about clean and sustainable energy generation. The electrical safety concepts were well understood by means of electrical safety devices.
- Overall the visit was a fruitful one and many students expressed that it was a stress reliever for them.

The four stages of Competence

Unconscious incompetence

The individual does not understand or know how to do something and does not necessarily recognize the deficit.

Conscious incompetence

Though the individual does not understand or know how to do something, they recognize the deficit, as well as the value of a new skill in addressing the deficit.

Conscious competence

The individual understands or knows how to do something. However, demonstrating the Skill or knowledge requires concentration

Unconscious competence

The individual has had so much practice with a skill that it has become "second nature" and can be performed easily. As a result, the skill can be performed while executing another task.
